ABOUT GUARANTEE

We have used every possible care to secure seeds that are true to name, carefully selected, and all lots are tested thoroughly for both germination and purity. Owing to so many conditions beyond the control of either the seedsman or planter, however, we give no warranty, express or implied, as to the productiveness of any seeds we sell and we will not be in any way responsible for the crop. Our liability, in all instances, is limited to the purchase price of the seed.

NORTHERN SEED COMPANY.

WYOMING SALES TAX

The Wyoming Selective Sales Tax Law exempts feeds only "for use in feeding livestock or poultry for marketing purposes." It also exempts "all sales of seeds, roots, bulbs, small plants and fertilizer planted or applied to land, the products from which are to be sold."

Feed, seed, etc., other than for the above purposes is therefore taxable, as are all supplies, garden tools and miscellaneous articles which we handle. Wyoming customers will please add 2% to the amount of their orders for such items to cover this tax. Mail orders to be shipped outside of the state are not subject to Wyoming Sales Tax.

OUR COVER

As noted on the back cover, this cover picture was taken on the Odell-Arney ranch, near Dayton, Wyo. It shows part of a 97 acre pasture planted in 1945. Harold Arney gives us the following information taken from their records: In 1947 they pastured 239 head of cows and calves on this pasture until May 14th, cut 80 tons of hay from it, and in the fall pastured 300 head of cattle for one month. At the time we took the picture late in October there was from 6 to 12 inches of grass all over the field. Harold tells us they didn't get this field irrigated last summer as well as they should have, and the hay production wasn't quite up to par—they got a ton and a quarter per acre in 1946.

Flower Seeds

"A kiss of the sun for pardon,
A song of the birds for mirth,
One is nearer God's heart in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth."

(Author unknown)

We all love flowers. Some of us enjoy working with them as much as the poet who wrote the above lines did, and they become a stimulant to both body and soul. Our flower seeds are selected to give satisfaction to the most critical, and will reward your care and efforts with bounteous beauty.

HINTS FOR SUCCESSFUL FLOWER GROWING

First: Prepare your seed bed well. The soil does not want to be worked when it is too wet or too dry, otherwise it will be too cloddy for fine flower seeds. Have the fertilizer thoroughly mixed into the top soil.

Second: Do not plant tender flowers too early. They will not thrive until the soil is quite warm anyway, and if planted early may germinate and then kill out if a cold spell sets in. Do not plant fine flower seeds too deep.

Third: Water carefully, so as not to wash the soil when seeds are planted, or after they are sprouted.

You will get a shade tree practically as soon as if you plant a larger tree, and at much less expense. Selected 3-4 ft. seedlings, each 20c; 10 for $1.50. (Also see "hedging".)

ALFALFA AND CLOVERS

Prices on Page 27

ALFALFA—Although alfalfa seed production in the United States was the largest on record, there is a terrific demand for Northern Grown alfalfa, and prices at far greater differentials over southern seed than normally have been paid for Wyoming and Montana seed. Beware of low priced Alfalfa Seed this year. It is almost sure to be of an origin not proven hardy for Wyoming or Montana. We sell nothing but Hardy Wyoming and Montana Grown Alfalfa. We have fair size stocks of Grimm, Cossack and Common of good quality.

Don't let Alfalfa Weevil or Grasshoppers destroy your new seeding or old fields of Alfalfa. With the discovery of CHLORDANE an effective means of combatting these and other insect pests is now available at reasonable cost. Ask us for full information.

RED CLOVER—Valuable legume crop, may be grown alone or in mixture with grasses. Not bothered by weevil. It is also profitable here as a seed crop. Very scarce this year. All our seed is locally grown.

ALSIKE—A clover that is valuable in mixtures for either hay or pastures. While it does well in ordinary soils, it will thrive in soils too wet for either red clover or alfalfa. Widely used in pasture mixtures, as it will not bloat stock even with heavy dew.

SWEET CLOVER—One of the best soil builders ever cultivated, and excellent pasture. Very useful planted with dry land grasses for pasture, as it will provide feed before the slow starting grasses have become established.

GRASSES

You often hear it said that Grass is one of Wyoming's most valuable assets. This can be said not only of our natural range, but also of cultivated pasture grasses, both for irrigated and dry land. The cattle and sheep industry can do much to increase the carrying capacity of their lands with proper planting of pasture and meadow grasses and legumes. This has been a major study with us for a long time and many of our customers have found our suggestions helpful. Feel free to consult us on this subject—we may be able to help you too. All grass seed we offer is high quality.

See Page 27 for prices

BROME GRASS—Makes a prolific growth in early spring, even during cold weather. Will stand more drought than most grasses, being largely planted on dry land, as well as irrigated. Planted a few pounds per acre with alfalfa, it increases as the alfalfa thins out and keeps out cheat, also making much better fall feed.

ORCHARD—A very nutritious and valuable grass. Excellent in a pasture mixture, also planted with alfalfa as it matures early and makes best hay cut as early as first cutting alfalfa. Also comes back fast to make a good second growth with second cutting alfalfa on irrigated land.

KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS—With plenty of water during the hot months of July and August, no grass will pasture as much stock as this. Excellent in pasture mixtures for this purpose. Blue grass tends to become sodbound, keeping moisture from going through to the base of the root system. Light cultivation will increase its productiveness.

RED TOP—Adapted to soils too wet for most grasses.

TIMOTHY—Perhaps the largest producing perennial grass grown for hay in Wyoming. Timothy, with a small percentage of Alsike or Red Clover added makes an abundance of hay relished by stock. Ideal to take range stock through bad storms. One advantage of timothy is that range stock will eat it, and still eat dry range grass as part of their ration.

MEADOW FESCUE—Also known as English Blue Grass. Similar to Kentucky Blue Grass, but grows larger and coarser, making it more desirable for hay. Desirable in pasture mixtures as well as for meadows. Hardy and stands drought well. Can be used for lawns where water is not available for thorough irrigation or watering.

CRESTED WHEAT GRASS—The hardiest and most drought resistant of the cultivated grasses. Makes excellent hay or pasture, and will grow in places other grasses will fail.

SLENDER WHEAT GRASS { Two slightly different types of “na-
WESTERN WHEAT GRASS { tive” grass, sometimes known as “Blue Stem.” Ideal for good dry land for both summer and winter grazing, but not recommended for light or poor soil. With a little extra water, makes excellent hay and a very good yield.

ORIGINAL HUNTLEY PASTURE MIXTURE—So named because first introduced by Huntley (Montana) Experiment Station. Contains 20% each of Brome, Orchard, Meadow Fescue and Kentucky Blue Grass, and 10% each of Alsike and White Dutch Clover. An excellent pasture mixture that will provide maximum pasture from early spring throughout the season.

Note our outside cover, also the story about it on Page 1.

MODIFIED HUNTLEY PASTURE MIXTURE—Many ranchers want to use a mixture for one cutting of hay in addition to early spring and late fall pasture. To meet this need we sell large quantities of “Modified Huntley Mixture.” This contains: 30% Brome, 30% Orchard, 20% Meadow Fescue, 15% Alsike and 5% White Dutch Clover. This mixture makes more hay on account of the larger percentage of taller grasses and Alsike Clover. By pasturing early, stock hold back the early grasses, and cause the growth to be more uniform at haying time.

ALTA FESCUE—A strain of tall fescue, developed at Corvallis, Oregon. It is a long lived, bunch type grass, that has proven very heavy yielding at experiment stations throughout the country. It is said to stand more drought, more water or more alkali than almost any common cultivated grass. Can be used either for pasture or for hay. Comes back quickly after cutting, and also grows well in cool weather, making it good for early spring or late fall pasture. So far as we know, Alta Fescue has not been grown in Wyoming, but from all we can learn it is well worth a good try-out.
